

Minor in Global Economics and Banking

*Students whose Major is in any programme other than BSocSc (Major in Economics) or BSocSc in GEB

About Minor in GEB

- The Minor programme allows inter-professional students to learn about Global Economics and Banking.
- It provides theoretical support for future work in the financial industry, such as in Hong Kong and the Greater Bay Area banks.
- It gives a way for students to learn about fundamental knowledge related to the global economy and banking institutions.

Theoretical support for future work in the financial industry

Fundamental knowledge related to the global economy and banking institutions

Develop analytical skills

Analyse issues in all aspects of the economy

Minor Programmes

Requirements:

- Successful complete 15 credits of courses as detailed below:

Required Courses (9 credits)	ECO2101 Introduction to Economics* ECO2102 Introduction to Banks and Financial Institution ECO2103 Financial Information and Management
Elective Courses (6 credits) Choose any ONE of Category A Courses:	ECO4217 Money and Banking, or ECO4323 Financial Economics
Choose any ONE of Category B Courses:	ECO4305 International Trade and Trade Policy, or ECO4306 International Finance, or SSC4207 International Political Economy

*Notes: Please visit the website for the relevant information of substitution.